Practical & Social Guide

This is an optional programme of social activities, which should give you inspiration regarding the many possibilities Copenhagen has to offer. You will find information on the scheduled events, as well as suggestions for each of the days of your stay. Second, you will find a selection of restaurants, sorted by price level, so you can compose the social program that fits your preferences. Please note that these are only suggestions, and that it is of course up to you to coordinate your social activities with the academic program and the time you need to spend studying and preparing for presentations and lectures.

Your accommodation:

Hotel Cab-Inn Scandinavia
Vodroffsvej 55
DK-1900 Frederiksberg C

Rooms have been booked, so just present yourself in the reception, and everything will be ready. A representative from CBS will meet you in the reception later and provide you with useful information.

Walking Tour of Copenhagen

Walking is a great way to experience the city, this means that most of the main sights and attractions can actually be reached by foot.

We have arranged a guided tour through the heart of Copenhagen. Apart from historical insights, the guides are well known for their question-answer capabilities.

Cafe Komma
Vodrofsvej 24 A
1900 Frederiksberg C
Phone: 33 24 54 54
Fax: 33 24 54 94
E-mail: info@cafekomma.com

As you have just arrived to Denmark, you are probably tired. You may want to pop over to one of the cafes near your hotel, and then head back to bed. A few hundred meters down Vodrofsvej, where the Cab-Inn is situated, you will find a nice little café, where you may choose the popular “pasta a’ la Komma”, or the traditional café menu, such as burgers, salads, etc.
Tuesday 17th

Novo A/S
Krogshøjvej 41
2880 Bagsværd

Take the Metro, direction Vanløse, and get off at Flintholm station. At Flintholm you take the S-train, line H, direction Farum St. You get off at Bagsværd. Be aware that the trip is three zones, and thus costs 25,50 each way. From the station the walk is around 5 minutes, as you can see on the map. Present yourself in the reception, and the Venture team will pick you up.

Saxon's Cafe & Bar
Jagtvej 71
2200 København N
Phone: 35 86 16 03

At Saxon's by Nørrebros Runddel, international and Danish DJ's play five days a week, including Tuesdays. Everything from Electronica and Reggae to Hip Hop and Latin. Every Wednesday, alternative rock is played, and you can get double up from 21.00-01.00. Saxon's is more than music. The menu counts everything from the traditional cafe dishes, such as burgers, salads, and tortillas to North African inspired dishes with lamb, and cous cous. Brunch is served every day from 11.00-16.00., both in the traditional and a vegetarian way. Every Sunday between 12.00-16.00, jazz, reggae, and similiar hangover-like music is played. Open: Sun-Tue 11:00-24:00, Wed-Thur 11:00-3:00, Fri-Sat 11:00-5:00
Wednesday 18th

Symbion Science Park
Fruebjergvej 3
2100 København Ø

Take the Metro to Nørreport Station. Take the S-train, line H+, direction Farum St., and get off at Emdrup St. Walk 5 minutes to the science park.

Lousiana Modern Art Museum Gl. Strandvej 13
DK-3050 Humlebæk
tlf. 4919 0719
www.louisiana.dk

Open Wednesday from 10.00 – 22.00 hrs
Enterance 74,- DKK, or 67,-DKK with student ID
Visit (by train) to Louisiana, world class museum of Modern Art in Humlebæk north of Copenhagen, overlooking Øresund, the sound between Denmark and Sweden. The idyllic location beside the waters of the Øresund provides a serene backdrop for its world class collection. Louisiana's temporary exhibitions feature world famous artists from 1945 onwards, such as Miro, Warhol and Hockney, and draw audiences from around the world.

Take the train from Copenhagen central station towards Helsingør (Kystbanen), and get off at Humlebæk station. The trip takes 36 minutes, and you have a 10 minutes walk from the station to the museum. The cheapest way to get there is to buy “all-zones” cards as a group at the train station. That way the trip will cost you around 70 DKK per person. We will have dinner in the museum café.
In Studenterhuset you can buy drinks at fair prices. Wednesday is “international night”, and a very popular event for both Danish CBS students and exchange students. The cafe is located in a big open room with big windows facing the shopping street, 'Købmagergade', and 'Rundetårn'. The guests are chiefly students, but everybody is welcome. It can get crowded, and it is a good idea to be there early, as you otherwise may have to wait in line outside.

Thursday 19th

Café neXus
Copenhagen Business School
Solbjerg Plads
Frederiksberg

You will finish the academic part of today's program at Solbjerg Plads, where café nexus is located. After the beer and sandwiches, which we have arranged for you and a group of Danish CBS graduate students, you may choose to stay around Solbjerg Plads, as Thursday is PARTYDAY! Café neXus is the hot bar at CBS. Every Thursday students from all the CBS faculties meet at Café neXus at Solbjerg Plads. In the various bars you can buy drinks at cheap student prices. There is a DJ, a dance floor, and the place usually gets rather crowded. This is an optimal opportunity to meet and socialize with the students at CBS, and learn more about the non-curricular aspects of the school and student life in Denmark.
Friday 20th

Carlsberg Breweries
Vester Fælledvej 100
1799 København V

Take the Metro towards Vanløse. Get off at Flintholm Station and change to the S-train, line C, direction Hellerup, and get off at Enghave Station. From Enghave station you can see the Carlsberg breweries.

Tivoli
Tivoli is situated in the very city centre, between Rådhuspladsen (city hall square) and the central station (Hovedbanegården).

Tivoli Gardens is usually top of everyone's list of places to visit, its unique style and atmosphere are as synonymous with the city as the Little Mermaid. You will be having dinner at the Tivoli Gardens, so this is a perfect opportunity to stay in the historic garden for the evening atmosphere.

Friday evening is a good day to visit Tivoli, as there are free live concerts every Friday on the open-air stage, called “plænen”. You can check the concert program on www.tivoli.dk
Lille Vega
Enghavevej 40
1674 København V
Phone: 33 25 70 11
Fax: 33 25 80 11
As a venue, Vega is a club stage where both Danish and international rockbands perform, and the concert hall accommodates 500 people. A well-equipped foyer bar is part of the establishment, which emanates a casual and relaxed atmosphere. During weekends the venue functions as a bar and night club under the name 'Ideal Bar & Night Club'. It is one of the best and most popular clubs in the city. Lille Vega’s big brother “Store Vega” offers larger concerts. Check the concert calendar on www.vega.dk

Pussy Galore's Flying Circus
Sankt Hans Torv 30
2200 København N
Phone: 35 24 53 00
E-mail: info@pussy-galore.dk
www.pussy-galore.dk

Pussy Galore's Flying Circus has its name from the James Bond film ‘Goldfinger’. The place calls itself an advanced diner and cocktailbar. Nørrebro’s trendiest bar is a popular place for sampling the latest drink or chatting over a nuclear cocktail and a plate of snacks. Whether it's the cheeky James-Bond-via-Monty-Python name that attracts them or the decor, Pussy's is popular with young Danish royals and the beautiful people. A great place for gazing. Open 7 days, 10am to 2am. Free Entrance
Saturday 21st

The Karen Blixen Museum
www.karen-blixen.dk

The Karen Blixen Museum opened in May 1991. It occupies the house in which Karen Blixen was born, Rungstedlund, and to which she returned in 1931 following 17 years as a farmer in Africa. She lived at Rungstedlund until her death in 1962 and it was here that she wrote all her internationally renowned stories. Rungstedlund is situated in North Sealand, on the shores of the Øresund strait, and behind the house itself there are 40 acres of land - garden, meadow and grove. In accordance with Karen Blixen's wishes, the area is preserved as a bird sanctuary, but is open to visitors. Karen Blixen was buried in the grounds, at the foot of Ewald's Hill.

Kronborg Castle
www.kronborgslot.dk

Kronborg Castle is one of the most important Renaissance castles in Northern Europe. Every year, several hundred thousand tourists visit this magnificent Castle at the entrance to the Sound. The many foreign guests mainly associate Kronborg with Shakespeare’s drama about Hamlet, Prince of Denmark. For Danish visitors, the Castle is a national and historic monument. On 30 November 2000, Kronborg was added to UNESCO's World Heritage List.
The Jazzhouse is a combined music venue and cafe. As for the music genre, jazz, and the variety of sub-genres; world music, funk-jazz, fusion, freejazz, neobop and modern, Jazzhouse takes the lead among all the venues in Copenhagen. After live-events on Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays, the night club is open till 5 in the morning.

Park Café
Østerbrogade 79
København Ø
Phone: 35 42 62 48
Fax: 35 42 62 61
E-mail: parkcafe@parkcafe.dk

This is Østerbro's most happening night venue. Its cafe serves both vegetarian and meat items and often has live entertainment. There are a couple of large dance floors - the upper level with live music and the basement floor with a DJ. The music is varied but progressive and the crowd tends to be young and stylish. Several times a week, Park presents live music, and every Thursday, Friday and Saturday, you can boogie through the night. Be prepared to queue up outside, though, as the place gets very busy.
This is a blues place, said the American pianist and blues legend Champion Jack Dupree, when he entered Mojo in the beginning of the 80’s. Today the theme is still blues. Blues, or something similar, and then to the artist of the night. The stage is small, and contact with the audience is intimate.

Open between 20.00 and 05.00

The International Church of Copenhagen

St. Andreas Church
Gothersgade 148
Copenhagen Worship and Sunday School followed by coffee hour.
11:30 AM every Sunday

Originally established as the American Lutheran Church, ICC has been providing English-speaking services since 1961. Although the congregation was initially established to minister to the large number of Americans who had moved to Denmark to work for multi-national companies, it has since grown into a ministry to individuals and families from all over the world. Similarly, the focus of ministry has grown to be inclusive of English-speaking people of many different Christian denominations. Although the congregation’s ties with the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America remain an essential part of its identity, the name of the parish was changed to the International Church of Copenhagen in order to identify more explicitly with this broadened ecumenical ministry.
Nyhavn
A cold draught beer in the sun in front of the pretty old houses and buildings by the waterfront, looking out at the old sailing ships and all the people promenading back and forth who have come to see and be seen.
This is how most people visualise Nyhavn, which draws Copenhageners and tourists like a magnet as soon as the sun peeks out from behind the clouds. During the summer as many as 1,000 people gather in Nyhavn, especially if the fickle Danish weather is mild and warm. In such cases it is possible to find a spot in the sun from early noon to late evening. The rows of restaurants and pubs have as many as 700 chairs set up outside. Several of them have moved their draught beer bars outdoors as well. Many people sit on the wharf or on the cobbledstoned street enjoying their beer and the whole atmosphere often develops into one big, happy party. The party goes on until an hour before midnight, when Nyhavn closes. The harbour itself is old, the canal was originally built in 1673, with the first salt water filling it's dock on October 19th. It soon established itself, as the place where returning sailors indulged themselves in the numerous bars, brothels and tattoo parlours which populated the area. For over three hundred years the area had a distinctly seedy reputation and it wasn't until the late seventies that the current new look got underway. Nowadays, lawyers, advertising agencies and the wealthy have moved to this fashionable address. From time to time it is still possible to bump into an old sailor looking for one of his old haunts.

Boat Tour through the canals of Copenhagen
The Netto Boats offer almost the same tour as another canal boat company, but it is less than half the price. It is a very nice ride, and you will see a lot of interesting and historic places around the city in a relaxing and comfortable way (that is – if the weather is good)

The tour starts from Nyhavn, a picturesque canal with atmosphere, many old houses and sailships. From Nyhavn, the boat will take you around the canals, where you will see f.ex. The Little Mermaid, The Amienborg Palace and the Danish parliament.
The National Museum
Ny Vestergade 10, København K
Phone: 3347 3850
Entrance fee: 25,- DKK

The National Museum is Denmark’s central museum of cultural history, comprising the histories of Danish and foreign cultures, alike. The Museum has a number of national commitments, particularly within the following key areas: archaeology, ethnology, numismatics, ethnography, natural science, conservation, communication, building antiquarian activities in connection with the churches of Denmark as well as the handling of the Danefæ (the National Treasures).
La Fontaine is legendary among the Jazz places in Copenhagen, and loved for its nocturnal jam-sessions. The bar can be categorized as sneaky, and it is possible to spend an entire evening in obscurity listening to jazz and drinking beers instead of sleeping. All instruments can be heard loud and clear. Open daily 20:00-5:00. Sunday there is live music between 21.00 and 01.00.

Monday 23\textsuperscript{st}

Getting there
Take the Metro to Nørreport Station and change to a train that passes the central Station (Hovedbanegården). Here you take the train E (København – Hässleholm – Kristianstad – Karlskrona/Växjö – Kalmar) at 11.00, and you will arrive at 12.01 in Lund. The fare is 146,- DKK if you make sure to get a group discount.

Lund – a charming university city
Lund is the third largest city in the region of Skåne. Out of the 90.000 inhabitants, 38.000 are students, studying at the Lund University. This is reflected on the atmosphere in the beautiful city, which has a rich cultural life. The area around the train station is full of cafes and shops, and if the weather is good, you will surely enjoy the stroll around the historic streets of Lund.
The Cathedral of Lund

The cathedral of Lund from the 11th Century is the largest and most beautiful example of Roman architectural style. Lund Cathedral was consecrated in 1145, and contains many well-known artefacts and features of considerable historical interest. The building of the Cathedral actually began some 65 years earlier in 1080. Its first Archbishop, Ascer, consecrated the high altar in the Crypt in 1123; and his successor, Archbishop Eskil, then consecrated the main cathedral building in 1145. During the 16th century the Cathedral was restored by the Westphalian stone mason, Adam van Düren, and his sculptured figures can be seen in several parts of the building. In the 19th century the Cathedral was again thoroughly renovated, first by C.G. Brunius, and then by Helgo Zettervall. Further restoration work was undertaken in the period 1954-63 by Eiler Graebe. Among the Cathedral’s many attractions, there is the magnificent horological artistic masterpiece, Horologium mirabil Lundense, dating from 1424. This early time and dating machine is still in working order with its rotating mechanical figures marking the passage of time. The Crypt is yet guarded by the figure of Giant Finn. There are also three rare bronze pillars with mounted statues from around 1240. The finely carved oak choir stalls are from the middle of the 14th century; and the majestic altar dates from 1398. On the other hand, the fine Absidens mosaic by Joakim Skovgaard, is from the 1920’s.

The Botanical Garden

Just east of the Cathedral you will find the large botanical garden with over 7,000 different plant species from all over the world. The mild “skånean” climate makes it possible to walk between exotic plants from the southern hemisphere. The park has the ambient of an English garden, which makes it a popular site for picnicking. The garden was created by the University during the 17th Century. In the middle of the 18th Century the garden was moved to its current location.

Varying exhibitions of Nordic contemporary art

The Art Hall of Lund is located on ”Mårtenstorget 3, just South of the Cathedral. The Art Hall has varying exhibitions of mostly Swedish and Nordic contemporary art. The building was created by the famous architect Klas Anshelm in 1957. Inside the building there is a little café with a nice view. Learn about current exhibitions on: http://www.lundskonsthall.se
Evening in Copenhagen
Perhaps you would like to see a European film, or maybe just relax after the trip to Sweden and watch a comedy, action film or romance. The good thing about Danish cinemas is that the films are not dubbed, but translated to Danish only through subtitles. Here are two choices of cinemas in the centre of Copenhagen.

Look at www.aok.dk (choose) AOK in English and search for Palads or Grand to see which films are on.

Palads is the place to see new films as well as the films you missed three months ago, and Palads contains 17 cinemas, large and small. The first central station in Copenhagen, which opened in 1847, was located where Palads is today, in 1911 it was transformed into a movie theatre. The present building is from 1917, but the interior has been modified several times. Despite the fact that there is a cinema no. 20, Palads only has 17 cinemas, since cinema no. 6, 7 and 15 do not exist today. The present colourful painting of the facade is from 1989.

Grand Teatret
Mikkel Bryggers Gade 8
1460 København K
Phone: 33 15 16 11

With its history reaching back to 1923, Grand is rich in tradition and among the oldest movie theatres in town. Through all the years, the theatre has presented a high quality repertoire based mainly on European cinema. The audience generally consists of educated people interested in intellectual films.

Tuesday 24th

Movie Night at CBS
To warm up for the theme innovation and creative industries and the visit to the Zentropia film Studios, we have arranged a movie night for you. Here you will get the chance to see one of the Danish dogma films: “Italiensk for Begyndere”, or “Italian for Beginners”.

Plot Outline: Several lonely hearts in a semi-provincial suburb of a town in Denmark use a beginner's course in Italian as the platform to meet the romance of their lives.
Wednesday 25th

Roberts Coffee
Larsbjørnsstræde 17
1454 København K
Phone: 33 32 66 10
Fax: 33 32 15 10

The concept of the café is to import fresh ingredients from all around the world - with the purpose of letting guests discover new coffee blends, new tea arts, and eat organic food. The reason why it works so well is the use of the space - split on two floors with two very different atmospheres. Upstairs is a bar full of light, with high windows overlooking one of the city's most charismatic junctions, facing the legendary Atlas Bar. Downstairs, in the dark and tight cellar, the low tables and sofas, bare brick walls, chimney fire and candles conjure up the best of a lounge-like vibe. It is slightly funky - but remains hygge and honest. The cafe also offers occasional jazz concerts and a weekly Saturday lounge-event.

Thursday 26th

Sabor Latino
Vester Voldgade 85
1552 København V
Phone: 33 11 97 66

Thursdays at Sabor Latino are the best days. The entrance is free, and the place fills up with both good dancers and normal people, who just want to enjoy the atmosphere, have a mojito and look at all the impressing dancers. Sabor Latino in the middle of the city is a very popular and well-frequented salsa bar and club. However, the music style also includes other dances of Southern origin. Many latin American people living in Copenhagen come to Sabor Latino, as do Danish salsa dancers of a more or less professional status. Sabor Latino offers salsa-dancing instruction free of charge on Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays form 10 PM to 11 PM.
Friday 27th

Luftkastellet
Strandgade 100 B
1401 København K
Phone: 70 26 26 24
E-mail: info@luftkastellet.dk

Copenhagen has an outdoor oasis in the harbour front area, floating in the canals of Christianshavn just across from Nyhavn. Luftkastellet ('Castle in the air') is the enterprise of eight young friends joining hands to put together this exotic space. This heaven is only a five-minute bicycle ride from the city centre, there is a big parking space, and you can even come by boat. The unique café opened July 13th 2001. Crowded every day in the summertime you can feel it shaping while you are there. The main feature is its Caribbean-white-sand area facing the canal, and a majestic view over Copenhagen's harbour front. There are comfortable resting chairs and outdoor designer couches. Every day there are special arrangements involving live music. Tending towards eclectic-chill styles like world-groovy-soul, jazzy fusions and reggae. And if it's one of those rare Copenhagen days without sunshine, you can still enjoy yourself by one of the heating lamps, or under the roof.

Pavillonen in Fælledparken
Borgmester Jensens Alle 45
2100 København Ø
Phone: 35 38 73 83
E-mail: mail@cafe-pavillonen.dk

Thanks to its location in Fælledparken (the common) is the pavilion the only outdoor place with grass and night license to five in the morning. Around the old pavilion is a covered bar and a sitting area with seats for a thousand guests. There is live music on the small stage every Friday and Saturday 8 PM all summer, and after the live music, you can enjoy the night disco until the early morning. The pavilion has chosen to focus on its real assets such as sunset, moonshine, and sunrise, so it is not the place to go for table football, backgammon etc.
Many other cities in Europe have a tradition for microbreweries, and the idea is not new in Copenhagen either. Apollo Bryggeriet (the Apollo Brewery) next to Tivoli has been making its own lager since 1990. But they cannot boast of such a large selection as Nørrebro Bryghus which produces six kinds of beer inspired by Dutch and English products. The restaurant has become enormously popular in a short time. The decoration is rather minimalistic and modern with large graphic pictures giving colour to the bar along with bright red lamps that lighten it up. The menu features three starters, three main courses and three desserts in addition to a cheese plate. Nørrebro Bryghus is owned and run by former Carlsberg employee Anders Kissmeyer, who probably will give the Danish beer giants competition.

Open: Mon-Wed 11.00-24.00 Thu-Sat 11.00-02.00 Sun 11.00-22.00

Mexi Bar is a great place for going out, though it is a very small and cosy bar. It is situated in the very popular area around the square, Sank Hans Torv, which is full of bars and clubs. Mexi Bar has the very best strawberry margueritas in town. It is a perfect pre-clubbing spot.

Bankeråt - means bankrupt, literally - is a café in which you feel at home, even on your first visit. The café is known for its Asian dishes and a main course is about 60 kr. As far as possible, Bankeråt aims at keeping the food organic, and the guests are taken on a good and inexpensive culinary trip around the world.
Pasta Basta
Valkendorfsgade 22
1151 København K
Phone: 33 11 21 31
E-mail: reservation@pastabasta

On a quiet little street parallel to the main walking street, Strøget, and overlooking the oldest piece of architecture in Copenhagen, the Church of the Holy Ghost, is a popular restaurant specialised in pasta meals. Pasta Basta serves Italy's national dish in all variations, yet the atmosphere could not be much more Danish. It is very cosy and the service is most friendly, with waitresses dressed in old-fashioned aprons with hand painted name badges, all giving the restaurant an idyllic atmosphere. The service is extremely effective, with the meals coming a few minutes after being ordered. The food is not the finer cooking, but good everyday food, and it is highly appreciated by the many young customers. Pasta Basta is best known for its cold pasta buffet, which consists of nine different salads. But it is also known for its unique opening hours, being the only spot where you can eat decent salads until 03:00 in the morning on weekdays and until 05:00 on weekends.

Konrad
Pilestræde 12-14
1112 København K
Phone: 33 93 29 29
E-mail: info@restaurantkonrad.dk

In Konrad you will experience one of Copenhagen's most noble restaurants, which is pleasing to eye as well as to the mouth. The cuisine is Scandinavian, and seasonal goods are one of the main substances of the food. The wine list offers an excellent selection, which is not necessarily flamboyant, and you will be served in a very professional manner. For lunch, why not try one of the Danish classics, such as the 'Pariserbøf' - beef and fried eggs, or the warm liver pâté? Konrad has been one of the better dining spots in Copenhagen ever since it opened. At midnight on the weekend the restaurant becomes a cocktail bar for the rich and famous. You might mistake Konrad for being expensive, but given the superb food they offer it is actually not bad value. Cuisine: Danish – new, International, Low fat. Open: Tue-Thu 12.00-01.00, Fri-Sat (Guest list) 12.00-04.00. Kitchen closes all days 22.00

Restaurant Den Sorte Ravn
Nyhavn 14
1051 København K
Phone: 33 13 12 33
Fax: 33 13 24 72

If you fancy a Danish cuisine with classic French inspiration and plenty of truffles, Den Sorte Ravn on the shadowy side of Nyhavn is the right place. In the mid-70's Den Sorte Ravn (the Black Raven) was the first gourmet restaurant to open in the once-so-naughty sailor's haunt, Nyhavn, and the classic menu is still very much the same as then: foie gras with truffles and port, roast veal in truffle-gravy, and the specialty - the baked turbot filet with lobster and brandy-sauce. If you are going to the nearby Royal Theatre, you can order a special 2-course Theatre Menu, The atmosphere is classic, and the restaurant has a non-smoking section. If you are going to the nearby Royal Theatre, you can order a special 2-course Theatre Menu, including half a bottle of wine, at 298 kr.

Tivoli, Vesterbrogade 3
1620 København V
Phone: 33 75 07 75
Fax: 33 75 07 76
E-mail: thepaul@thepaul.dk

The creative English cook, Paul Cunningham, opened his first restaurant in Tivoli in 2003. Only one year after he was rewarded for his creative work with a star in the prestigious Michelin eating guide. The Paul has no a'la carte menu in the evenings, but one fixed menu, which changes every two weeks. This is a real gourmet restaurant, and if you don’t mind the high prices, it will be a memorable experience to visit The Paul. The restaurant is open for lunch and dinner.

Salt
Toldbodgade 24-28
1253 København K
Tlf: 33 74 14 48
E-mail: info@saltrestaurant.dk

Situated in the 200-year-old granary, Admiral Hotel is a beautiful and charming place. It's restaurant, Salt, was opened in January 2003 to celebrate the exclusive hotel's 25th birthday. The price level at Salt is, like all restaurants in high-class hotels, rather high. On the other hand, the surroundings are superb and the level of service is outstanding. One can argue whether educated waiters and waitresses are preferable or not, since some people enjoy non-formal service (a-la-Danoise). At Salt, the staff's education and professionalism is clear and a certain asset. The old charming woodwork from the granary is in sharp contrast to the modern red chairs, large mirrors and grey minimalist sofas. But it all works elegantly. In one end of the restaurant one can observe the chefs in action - a nice feature as it softens up the restaurant and gives it some warmth. Open daily from 7:00-22:00
Sticks'n'Sushi
Nansensgade 59
1366 København K
Tlf: 33 11 14 07
Fax: 33 11 14 09
E-mail: sticks@sushi.dk

The quality of the sushis in Stick'n'Sushi reaches the sublime, but the prices are rather high. One thing, which makes the restaurant stand out in comparison with others, is the determination to challenge the tastes of Danish people. And with both foie gras, eel and orange marinated duck's chest, they are not far off from scaring the Danes away. The restaurant is very popular and reservation is a good idea - especially on nice and warm summer nights when the tables outside are in high demand.

Gammel Strand 38
1202 København K
Phone: 33 15 89 15
Fax: 33 15 83 19
E-mail: krogs@krogs.com

Since 1910 it has been possible to eat both classic and modern dishes of fresh Danish fish and shellfish in Krogs Fiskerestaurant (Krog's Fish Restaurant). The atmosphere makes you feel like one of the figures in a golden age painting, because the interior decoration is carried through in 1800-style. The interior decoration, the location, and the Danish fish appeal to tourists, which is the reason for the multi-lingual menu card, which is translated into English, German, Japanese, and Italian. The wine list is among the absolute largest in the city counting over 1100 wines. Open: Mon-Sat 12:00-15:00 and 18.00-24.00. Kitchen closes at 22.30
Bastionen og Løven
Christianshavns Voldgade 50
1424 København K
Phone: 32 95 09 40
E-mail: post@bastionen-loven.dk

The people of Copenhagen have always enjoyed a stroll on 'Voldene' - the City Ramparts. Earlier, however, there was no place to go for a drink or a bite to eat. Thus, the location is one of the main attractions of the Bastionen og Løven. The house used to be overgrown and tangled in leaves - an image from The Sleeping Beauty, and next to it was a mill. Sitting in the outside yard, one has a good view of the picturesque Frelserkirke (Our Saviour Church). The food is traditional, yet diverting and although the menu is limited, it is well chosen.
