DEAN Choi Reflects

Welcome back!

I hope that you all enjoyed wonderful summers whether you were putting in long (or not so long) hours at your internship, traveling in the U.S. or abroad, spending time with family and friends or preparing for your first year of college. I hope that you are returning fully refreshed to start an invigorating year.

Life at Stern did not slow down while you were away - we have been busy relaunching our web site, planning ISP trips, coordinating the Connections and IBEX programs, and welcoming our newest class at two Orientation programs, among a host of other things. An exciting year awaits.

Another group of Sternies who have been hard at work this summer are our student leaders. Stern now features 17 student clubs thanks to the addition of three new clubs starting this Fall: Alpha Kappa Psi, the Professional Development Society, and the Stern Real Estate Group. Congratulations to those students who initiated the creation of these valuable new clubs.

Stern clubs present a great opportunity for you to get involved. Whether you are a freshmen just beginning or are entering your senior year, it is never too late to expand your knowledge and meet new people.

You will have several opportunities to learn more about Stern clubs in the coming weeks. You can read about the new clubs in this issue of SterNotes or visit our web site, and you will also be hearing about an ICC event in the coming weeks where each of the club’s will present more information on their missions and activities. Also be sure to visit the Office of Student Activities and get involved in NYU-wide clubs.

Lastly, I want to note an exciting upcoming event - The First Annual Stern Summit on Global Business which will be held on November 8&9 here at Tisch Hall. Richard Grasso, Chairman & CEO of the New York Stock Exchange will be speaking and a host of other top executives and academicians will be featured on a variety of panel sessions. You will be hearing more about the conference in the coming weeks but mark your calendars now!

Best of luck in the coming year!

NYU STERN WELCOMES NEW DEAN

New York University President John Sexton announced the appointment of Thomas F. Cooley as Dean of the NYU Stern School of Business on May 28. A noted economist and Chair of Stern’s Economics Department, Professor Cooley took over as Dean on August 15.

The University conducted an extensive national search for the deanship. Representatives from all of Stern’s constituencies, including members of the Board of Overseers, alumni, faculty, students, and administrators, participated in the process. Professor Cooley, who joined Stern as a faculty member in 1999, stood out from the final group of candidates for the excellence of his scholarship, his intellectual prowess, his compelling teaching, and his demonstrable leadership qualities.

Upon the announcement, Professor Cooley stated, “I’m delighted and honored to be named Dean. It has been my privilege to be part of Stern for several years and to witness the energy and talent that has earned the School its stellar reputation. I look forward to working with the Stern and University communities to extend the successes of my predecessors and bring the School to the next level of excellence.”

Professor Cooley, who has received numerous awards for teaching and is recognized as a national leader in both macroeconomic theory and business education, is also professor of economics in the Faculty of Arts and Sciences. He is President of the Society for Economics Dynamics and a Fellow of the Econometric Society.

NEW WEB SITE LAUNCHED

The Stern Undergraduate College unveiled its new web site this summer. The site features a completely new design as well as a wealth of new content.

New content includes a calendar of events, detailed information on Stern’s innovative curriculum, information on Stern clubs, a “this week at Stern section,” and a news section with current press releases, photos, and other happenings at the School.

In addition, many site favorites remain, including: links to faculty web pages and evaluations, information on the Connections and IBEX programs, as well as links to many useful NYU sites including the Office of Career Services, Office of Student Activities, ALBERT, and much more.

The site caters to a variety of audiences including Stern students, prospective students, and alumni.

will be an important place to access information about Stern programs and to hear about upcoming events from Stern Clubs and the Office of Student Advising and Student Services.

You can access the site at www.stern.nyu.edu/undergraduate. Peruse the site and feel free to send your comments to Shana Carroll at: scarroll@stern.nyu.edu.

STERN TO HOST SUMMIT ON GLOBAL BUSINESS

On November 8 & 9, NYU Stern will host the First Annual Stern Summit on Global Business at Tisch Hall. The conference will feature speakers from a wide array of backgrounds including corporations, academia, and non-profit organizations.

The conference, which will center on the topic of corporate governance, will span two days and feature two keynote addresses, six concurrent panel sessions, and a networking reception. Keynote addresses will be delivered by Richard Grasso, Chairman and Chief Executive Office of the New York Stock Exchange and Domingo Cavallo, former Economy Minister of Argentina. Additional speakers include Director and Filmmaker Spike Lee and former U.S. Senator Larry Pressler.

The conference panel sessions will focus on developments and trends in specific industry sectors as well as global business trends. Topics include:

- The Global Entertainment Explosion
- Putting the Wall Back in Wall Street
- Fueling the Future: Energy, Innovation, and Economic Growth
- Industry Focuses on the Pharmaceutical and Biotechnology, Financial Services, and Information Technology sectors

Conference attendees will include Stern undergraduate students, Stern undergraduate alumni, NYU students, and undergraduate students from top business programs throughout the United States.

All Stern undergraduate students are invited to attend the conference. Space is limited and conference tickets will be available on a first-come, first-served basis. There will be a $20 registration fee for NYU students. For more information, check the web site at www.stern.nyu.edu/undergraduate or email scarroll@stern.nyu.edu.

The conference, which is being sponsored by the Stern Scholars Group and the Stern India Business Exchange (SIBEX), was student initiated and is being organized by a student committee.

Above: Richard Grasso, Chairman & CEO of the New York Stock Exchange will speak at the Stern Summit on Global Business on November 9.

Summer is winding down and it’s time to start another school year. Council has put together a great concoction of events and activities that will make the Sternie life even more fun.

What is Stern without a few social events to bring us together in non-class related situations? Council is planning great events such as Class Wars, which will set classes against each other to see which class rules the school. We hope to strengthen the relationships among the students while providing an outlet for the Sternie’s competitive nature.

We are also currently coordinating with the Fashion Business Association to create the first Stern Fashion Show. This show will be a twist in the student's business experience, and expose them to Corporate America's fashionable side. The show is scheduled to take place in November; auditions will be in September, so get ready to strut your stuff. This is part of our new initiative to bring Stern and the rest of NYU together. We are also coordinating with student councils in other schools to have an NYU Family Feud: Students vs. Professors. What better way to apply the knowledge they gave us than to use it against them.

Also, this year we are improving our annual events including Casino Night, Charity Auction, and Talent Show.

In addition to coordinating events, Student Council is here to liaise with the administration and address student concerns and spearhead student initiatives. Last year, the Student Council conveyed interest in curriculum changes to the administration and as a result, a Student Curriculum Committee has been developed. Classes are being restructured to fit the needs of the students and will better prepare us for the real world. Council will soon present these changes to the student body, giving you the chance to voice your opinions and work with administration and council to make your experience here... fabulous!

Student Council is looking forward to starting the year, but a successful year will require involvement from the entire student body. Join us every Tuesday at 12:30 pm in Surdna North for our weekly General Meetings and help make this year the best ever. Welcome back and have an amazing year!

INTER-CLUB COUNCIL REPORTS

Big changes are in store for the Inter-Club Council this year, as we will be implementing a number of new strategic initiatives to help the school continue the process of ongoing improvement.

The ICC member clubs are already off to a fast-paced start working to bring the best speakers, companies, and events to Stern. In addition to club events featuring the nation’s premiere employers, the Inter-Club Council’s Career Outreach initiatives will begin this year to provide insights into careers in industries largely unexplored at Stern.

Additionally, the ICC member clubs will be playing an active role in the newly developed Stern Curriculum Committee (SCC). This resource is one that must not be overlooked by any student, as the SCC now provides a direct channel for students to influence their academic studies.

Finally, three new organizations have joined the Inter-Club Council, bringing the number of Stern-exclusive undergraduate clubs to 17: the Stern Real Estate Group will work to improve student awareness of the opportunities in real estate and related industries; a local chapter of the national co-ed business fraternity Alpha Kappa Psi will launch at Stern during the fall semester; and the Professional Development Society will work in conjunction with the other ICC clubs to help advance knowledge of "soft skills" that can only be learned outside of the classroom. Currently accepting applications for membership, these three clubs will surely prove themselves worthy of the Stern name over the next year. For more information about these three clubs, review the profiles on the following page and check out the Inter-Club Council website at: http://www.stern.nyu.edu/~icc.

Be sure to pay attention to weekly e-mails sent from the Inter-Club Council throughout the year to be in the know of club and ICC happenings. I hope you’re looking forward to this year, as the Inter-Club Council and the member clubs are sure not to disappoint.

GET INVOLVED IN NEW STERN CLUBS

Alpha Kappa Psi

President: Tina Minh
Vice-President: Shirley Xu
Secretary: Sue Lee
Web Manager: Andy Minkstein
Publicity: John Tan & Diane Chien
Ritual Manager: Brian Lee

Club Mission:
Our goal is to prepare you for future success by focusing on all the things we need to learn outside the classroom. The living laboratory of Alpha Kappa Psi (AK Psi) gives us the practice we need in developing advanced communication skills, an understanding of the value of teamwork, and firsthand experience with the unique challenges of motivating a team through project completion. AK Psi is geared toward the development of well-trained, ethical, skilled, resourceful, experienced business leaders.

Why get involved?
AK Psi is the first American Business Fraternity and the largest in the nation with chapters in the top 50 business schools in America. AK Psi was founded at NYU in 1904 (our one hundred year mark is in 2004!).

More information:
Visit our website at: www.akpsi.com. For questions about Stern's chapter of AK Psi email Tina Minh at: tm548@stern.nyu.edu. Since this year is our re-chartering, the members will be the founding brothers and sisters of AK Psi. You must be a sophomore to join and must have the minimum cumulative GPA required by Stern to graduate.

The Stern Real Estate Group

Co-Founders and Presidents: Andrew Walker and Adam Ilkowitz
External VP: Eddie Serure
Internal VP: Derek Chan
Marketing: Aric Schachner

Club Mission:
The goal of the Stern Real Estate Group is to cultivate the general interest in real estate in the Stern undergraduate community and promote the many opportunities available to business school students and soon-to-be graduates who are interested in this exciting industry. We plan to do this by bringing in a variety of professional speakers, creating a mentor program and developing a social network of real estate enthusiasts, while also teaching the members, through educational seminars, how to become successful real estate investors.

Why get involved?
Real estate is one of the best, most secure, and most rewarding places to invest your money, especially in New York City. The real estate industry is also where many Stern alumni end up. If you have any interest in real estate, this is a great place for you to supplement your Stern education.

More information:
Send us an email explaining your interest in real estate, what kinds of speakers and events you would like to see, or asking any questions you may have about the club. You will automatically be added to the mailing list. Emails can be sent to regroup@stern.nyu.edu

Professional Development Society (PDS)

Co-Presidents: Janice Chung and Sharon Lee
Secretary: Carol Liu
Treasurer: Kareen Rivel
Web Designer: David Paulsson

Club Mission:
The Professional Development Society will give you a better awareness of self-presentation and communication techniques using hands-on methods. The organization will equip you with necessary business etiquette. Furthermore, the organization will train you to be poised and confident in a corporate setting. PDS will achieve this by offering extensive sessions on interviewing strategies and resume evaluations, building a professional wardrobe, stress management, interpersonal communication, and debating techniques to name a few.

Why get involved?
PDS will enhance students’ ability to comfortably present themselves in a corporate environment and will provide students with a concrete foundation for confidence and professionalism. Dynamic interaction skills, proper attire, and cultural knowledge are just some essential survival skills that our organization promotes.

More information:
Email PDS: sl664@stern.nyu.edu or jc966@stern.nyu.edu or refer to our webpage by visiting the clubs section of the Stern website.
During the past year the NYU Office of Career Services (OCS) has shifted into high gear assisting NYU students with finding employment and internships. The OCS staff continues to encourage and support students as well as assist them with job search strategies in a slow economy. OCS has been utilizing every resource possible to identify immediate or potential job opportunities. Although on-campus recruitment decreased almost 40% nationwide, the decrease at NYU was significantly less. Despite the challenging times, OCS strives to ensure that all NYU students achieve their career goals. We are pleased that many Stern May 2002 graduates were placed by July after graduation. Stay tuned for the results of our annual placement survey which will be available on our web site during January 2003.

Highlights of OCS programs and services include individual career counseling, career-related seminars, NYU CareerNet (an on-line database of internship and job listings), On-Campus Recruitment Program, Career Resource Center, Mentor Network, Work Abroad Program, Dining for Success, and Career Advantage Internship Program (a specialized internship preparation program for African American, Latino, and Asian American students).

STERNIES EXUDE CAMPUS PRIDE ON UNIVERSITY’S VIP DAY
A mild day this past spring provided ideal weather for the university-sponsored annual VIP day, a special event at which more than twenty Stern students, faculty, and administrators volunteered to help beautify Washington Square Park.

This year, members of the Undergraduate College joined together with representatives from other NYU schools to paint benches and plant flowers in the historic park which serves as a center of campus life.

Stern Undergraduates who shared their time and talents to contribute to the day’s success included: Michael Gathy, Josef Vaculcik, Jessica Jason, Dmitry Kagan, and Professor Terri Kurtzberg. Thanks to all those who participated in this worthwhile event!

For January/May/Summer 2003 graduates only:
On-Campus Recruitment:
This program provides graduating students seeking full-time employment after graduation the opportunity to interview with employers. In order to prepare for this program, it is mandatory to attend a one-hour On-Campus Recruitment Orientation Session where you will learn how to navigate NYU InterviewNet.

NYU InterviewNet enables you to manage the on-campus interview process on-line. You can:
- view position descriptions
- view dates of interviews
- apply for positions
- bid for interviews
- sign up for an interview time
- save resumes in your student record to email to employers

It is also required that you attend a one-hour Interviewing Skills Seminar before your on-campus interviews begin (exempt if you have already attended an Office of Career Services’ Interviewing Skills seminar within the past year). Reservations are required; visit our web site or office for specific dates and times.

Fall Employer Presentation Season: begins 9/5/02.
Fall Interview Season: 9/19 - 12/4/02.
GLOBAL OPPORTUNITIES AT NYU STERN

INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS EXCHANGE
Go Global with Stern!

You are invited to attend our first International Business Exchange (IBEX) program information session on Wednesday, September 18th, from 12:30 to 1:30 pm. Please watch your "News from the 8th Floor" e-mails for the specific room location. We encourage you to attend this workshop to learn more about your opportunities to study business abroad.

All Stern students who are currently in their sophomore or junior year and have a minimum GPA of 3.0 can be considered for the IBEX program for the upcoming academic year (2003-2004). Freshmen are also encouraged to learn more about the IBEX program now in order to plan their curriculum accordingly. The application deadline for 2003-2004 is Tuesday, February 11, 2003.

Additional information sessions and an IBEX Fair will be held later this semester. Please watch your e-mail for dates. You can also learn more about IBEX by meeting with your Academic Adviser and by visiting the IBEX section of our web site at: http://www.stern.nyu.edu/undergraduate/

NYU STUDY ABROAD

Did you know that NYU offers you the opportunity to spend a semester or year at one of its fully-staffed campuses abroad? Students in all schools and from all majors can live and study in Florence, London, Madrid, Paris, or Prague. You can earn credit taking NYU classes overseas. Housing at all sites is guaranteed and arranged for all participating students, as are trips, events, and activities in and around the host city. You may study abroad any time after the completion of your freshman year, and applying is as easy as filling out a brief form online.

Stern Students, while invited to apply to all sites and choose from all courses offered, are able to take a full semester's worth of Stern courses at NYU in London. Located in the heart of Bedford Square, the NYU in London site offers students volunteer opportunities, interaction with British students at the nearby local universities, and both dormitory and apartment-style housing. Stern students can complete their required coursework while exploring the museums, culture, and business climate of London.

The Study Abroad Admissions Office conducts information sessions, holds an open house, and speaks to various classes, clubs, and events on campus. This fall, we will hold our Open House on Tuesday, October 1, 2002 from 11am-2pm in Hemmerdinger Hall. Please feel free to stop by!

To find out more about the NYU sites in Florence, London, Madrid, Paris, and Prague and to receive information on when our next event is being held, please contact our office at 998-4439.

A STERNIE’S SUMMER

INTERNSHIP PROFILES

Aaron Rosen, Class of 2003
Internship: Investment Banking
Summer Analyst, Merrill Lynch, Global Energy & Power Group

Stern Senior Aaron Rosen spent his summer in a position sought after by countless undergraduate students, working as a Summer Analyst at a leading investment bank. Though interestingly, this summer’s responsibilities were a little bit different than those of many of his investment banking intern predecessors. In response to the current economic climate, Aaron’s role was largely focused on seeking out deals by working with deal teams to create new and innovative ideas for companies.

Aaron's internship consisted of working in a variety of deal teams in which he worked with lead bankers, analysts and other interns to conduct extensive research and compile presentations for corporate executives. In many cases they were presenting executives with potential M&A opportunities and in other cases, they were completing debt issues.

Aaron's experience at Merrill Lynch allowed him to apply many of the skills learned at Stern. His job responsibilities included completing valuations, financial modeling, and running analyses on specific companies. One of his favorite aspects of working at Merrill Lynch was the access to working with top executives in his group. Aaron remarked that senior staff members were ready and willing to serve as mentors. In addition, the position allowed Aaron to become both quick and proficient at using Excel - a critical element of the position.

This summer was the first time that Aaron worked in the investment banking industry. Prior to this position, he interned on the corporate banking side at Rabobank International. Aaron's experience with multiple internships has allowed him to better determine his own career direction. Aaron remarked that "with each internship, I have gotten a better idea of what I want to do. After working in corporate banking, I knew I wanted to be more involved in the financial markets and interning at Merrill Lynch gave me the chance to see corporate finance work."

Ali Hashmi, Class of 2003
Internship: Co-founder, Enitiative4 Technologies

A three-week visit home to Karachi, Pakistan at the beginning of this summer quickly turned into three months when Ali Hashmi, Stern senior, decided to start-up an IT Services company with his brother-in-law, Mahmood Siddique. The idea for the company stemmed from Ali, Mahmood and a few other partners who have been closely observing the booming state of the IT industry in China and India. Ali and his partners recognized that a similar boom is beginning in Pakistan and the marketplace is enormous. Currently, Pakistan boasts over 2 million computer literate people, and a burgeoning middle class.

At Ali’s suggestion, the company named Enitiative4, decided to start in the hardware sector in order to develop its brand name before moving into the more profitable software sector. "I think that was the key; we had to ensure that we did not end up in the IT graveyard, just like many of our counterparts,” says Ali. Indeed they didn't, and they have the figures to prove it. Although it has only been a few months, the company has already generated revenues of approximately 6 million rupees (about $100,000) and has gained 20 clients, most of them local manufacturing businesses who want to establish an online presence.

Ali spent his summer focused on three key activities. First, he conducted a feasibility study in which he interviewed executives. The study helped Enitiative4 to determine the markets needs enabling them to refine their business plan accordingly. Second, he attended the largest IT conference in Asia called ITCN Asia 2002. All the key IT players were there and Enitiative4 had the opportunity to network with key government officials, prospect for new clients, and check out the competition. Lastly, Ali focused on getting Enitiative4 membership in the Pakistan Software Export Board.

Ali remarked that, "being an entrepreneur and having the resources to build on those ideas was a tremendously exciting opportunity." He plans to stay involved with Enitiative4 and will travel to the Silicon Valley in the spring to meet with potential business partners.
Stern seniors Mark Branden and Nisan Bangiev traveled to Chicago in August to attend the Standard & Poors Corporate Value Consulting (CVC) Discovery Conference. The conference, which spanned over a weekend, focused on how to complete corporate valuations and the importance of these valuations in the marketplace.

Conference attendees included top business students from such schools as: Berkeley, Boston College, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, University of Michigan, and University of Southern California.

Mark and Nisan were invited to the conference because of their heavy involvement in Stern’s Investment Analysis Group (IAG) which had a remarkably successful year in 2001-2002, outperforming the S&P 500 in both their funds during both semesters.

Mark, President of IAG, noted that the skills that he acquired through his participation in IAG gave him a tremendous advantage at the CVC Discovery Conference. Working in small groups at the conference, Mark was able to take the lead in helping his group get started in performing a financial valuation of a leveraged buyout featuring a hard disk drive manufacturer.

In addition, many students at the conference expressed an interest in establishing a relationship between IAG at Stern and their school’s finance organizations.

In addition, to coming from diverse backgrounds, the entering class also has a variety of interests when it comes to their courses of study. Students noted the following interests in their Stern application:

- Finance 28%
- Undecided 27%
- Int’l Business 13%
- Management 9%
- Economics 9%
- Marketing 7%
- Accounting 4%
- Actuarial Sci. 2%
- IS, Stats, & Ops 2%

The average SAT score of the entering class is an impressive 1393 and the average GPA is 3.77.

We wish the Class of 2006 the best of luck in the coming year!
DEAN CHOI HOSTS WEEKLY CHAT ROOM IN TISCH LOBBY

After another successful year, Dean Choi will continue his weekly Chat Room in the Tisch Hall lobby. This year’s Chat Room will be held every Wednesday from 12:30 pm to 1:30 pm.

Take advantage of this opportunity to get to know your Dean. Dean Choi is available to discuss curriculum, extracurricular activities, career development, and a wide variety of other topics.

Use this opportunity to share with Dean Choi your favorite things about Stern or to talk about an issue or problem you may have experienced. Discuss your future plans or hopes for the College.

CONNECTIONS PROGRAM KICKS OFF ANOTHER YEAR: GREAT MENTORS REJOIN AND MANY NEW ALUMNI MENTORS ARE ON BOARD

The Stern Connections Alumni Mentor Program is gearing up for a great year! THE STERN LEGACY

Are you ready to make Stern an even better place for future generations? It is that time of year when we start preparing for the Annual Stern Legacy Campaign. If you are a Senior or Junior that wishes to serve on the Legacy Committee please send a letter of interest to the attention of Dean Victor Mullins by Friday, September 27. Letters can be delivered to Tisch, Suite 800 or sent via email to: vmullins@stern.nyu.edu

Past legacies have created scholarships, updated the School’s art collection, funded technology upgrades and much more. Make your contribution to the future of this great institution. Get involved now!

LOCKER AVAILABILITY

Stern Undergraduate students who commute are eligible for lockers in Tisch Hall. You must apply by filling out an application. Applications are available on the website in the Services section, under facilities or are available on the rack outside of the Dean’s Office, Tisch Hall, Suite 800). Applications should be filled out completely and signed and placed into Melissa Iglio’s mailbox in Tisch Hall, Suite 800. Shortly thereafter, you will receive an email with your locker number and combination. Please be sure to write legibly and use your Stern email address on your application. Please note: You must be an undergraduate student that does not live in NYU dormitories.

NEED SOME $$$

Stern students needed for successful NYU Phonathon. Fifty paid part-time positions are available immediately. Liaise with NYU alumni, improve communications skills, and work in a great environment. Flexible schedules are designed to accommodate your busy schedule. Excellent resume builder!

Please stop by the NYU Phonathon at 7 East 12th Street, 9F for an application. For more information, please email: carol.liao@ruffalocody.com or call 212.998.6883.

Computer Specials

Stern has partnered with Dell Computers to provide Stern-ready Notebook Recommendations for 2002-2003. To find out more about the program or to place an order, visit the following link: http://www.stern.nyu.edu/it/services/mobile/getting_wired02.html

About Your Stern Account

Every student receives a Stern account that provides access to the STERN local area network and the Stern labs. Stern accounts also provide Webmail, personal webspace, and 50MG of file storage space. Your Stern email address will take the following form: netID@stern.nyu.edu. Your netID will be found on your NYU ID card. Accounts will be active on the first day of classes. The default password will be your student identification number. Use SIMON at: http://w3.stern.nyu.edu/simon/ to change your password. Students may access their email from the Internet via WebMail at http://webmail.stern.nyu.edu/. As a Stern student you have access to the Stern Computer Labs. Please take a moment to visit the IT website at: http://www.stern.nyu.edu/it for more information about the Stern labs, including lab policies, locations, software and hours.

Our computing facilities are equipped with all of the software that students need to get their course work done, such as Microsoft Office, Netscape Communicator, and Norton Anti-Virus. Students enrolled in Stern courses have access to two computing labs and dozens of Email Stations conveniently located throughout Tisch Hall.

If you have any comments, questions, or suggestions, we would love to hear from you! Feel free to write to us at remarks@stern.nyu.edu
